

BANDIT VILLA OUTWITS HIS PURSUERS

TRIES TO BREAK THRU LINES SOUTH MADERA LEAVES PART OF FORCE TO HOLD CARRANZA TROOPS IN CHECK

Information is Brought to El Paso by Americans From Pierson and Casas Grandes—Mexican War Department Denies Rumor That Herrera Has Deserted to Villa—Political Struggle is Forecast in Washington.

EL PASO, Texas, Mar. 25.—Villa has outwitted his pursuers by splitting his forces leaving one body to hold in check the Carranza troops in the neighborhood of Namiquipa while he himself at the head of a picked force is trying to break thru the lines of his enemies south of Madera, according to information brought here today by Americans arriving from Pierson and Casas Grandes.

This information redoubled the interest with which word is awaited from General Pershing and the American troops have clashed with the Villistas. According to reports from usually reliable sources, coupled with what is officially known as to the progress of the punitive columns, American cavalry reached Madera yesterday and should be closed on the heels of the fugitive from justice.

Trial Known as Pancho's Road. At Tutuacha it bends sharply to the southeast until it is lost in the wild and barren country south of Minaca. This trial was known for years as Pancho's road.

It was popularly believed to have been broken by the bandit and its intricacies are known to few but but him. No wagons possibly can pierce the desolate mountain region, thru which the road runs. Few Americans are known to have penetrated the district. Ben Harris, a veteran scout who now is living here, declared today that if Villa succeeded in reaching Tutuacha the task of finding him would be a hopeless one.

Asserts Villa Entered Canyon.

A Mexican cowboy who arrived here today insisted that he had seen Villa with about two hundred men entering the Santa Clara canyon southeast of Namiquipa yesterday morning. This canyon runs for 150 miles northeast to Encinitas. It is from 200 to 3000 feet deep and if the report is true Villa has entered a trap from which he cannot escape. Will Crosby who entered Mexico as scout for the Thirteenth cavalry returned here today with a story that the American troops at Casas Grandes were suffering from lack of food and that the transportation system had almost completely broken down. Crosby said that when he left Casa Grandes yesterday the soldiers had practically nothing but hard-tack and bacon to eat. He said twenty seven trucks laden with supplies left Columbus this morning but that they had been held up at that point across the desert is almost impassable.

Officials Denies Rumors.

Queretaro, Mex., Mar. 25.—The war department denied officially today the rumor that General Luis Herrera had deserted to Villa. The report of this and other alleged defections is said to be the work of reactionaries for the purpose of complicating the situation. The pursuit of Villa bandits is becoming more rigorous. General Luis Gutierrez reported today the capture and execution of Baldomero Santana, a general attached to Villa's forces and said to have been one of the party of 1500 who remained on the Mexican side of the border when Columbus was raided. The execution took place at the city of Jiminez, in the state of Chihuahua.

Delay Creates Impatience.

San Antonio, Texas, Mar. 25.—Carranza's delay in permitting the movement into Mexico over the Northwestern railway of supplies for the American troops has created an impatience at army headquarters that today was hardly disguised. The quartermaster department has expressed the assumption that finally Carranza will authorize the use of the railroad and has sent to El Paso a quantity of stores for immediate shipment. Officers here did not credit the unofficial reports that General Alvaro Obregon, Carranza's secretary of war, had said that no permission for use of the line would be given.

Failure to send supplies thru Juarez over the railroad into the country where the troops now are operating would not stop the campaign, but it was admitted it would materially retard General Pershing's activities. Already there has been so much change in the positions of the mobile forces dispatched from Casas Grandes that the logical railroad to use for getting supplies to a part of them would be the National which goes straight from Juarez to Chihuahua instead of making the wide swing to the west that the Northwestern does.

Uncertainty occasioned by the lack of news from cavalry columns was evident today at General Funston's headquarters altho his displayed an optimistic confidence in General Pershing's campaign methods. His longing for more news however, was unceasing. Monday General Pershing reported the dispatch of three cavalry columns southward from Casas Grandes. Friday he reported that two of them were in the vicinity of Namiquipa. That is the amount of last information received here.

Forecast Political Struggle.

Washington, March 25.—While administration officials described the military situation in Mexico as serene to night the day's developments in Washington forecast a political struggle here next week with the administration's Mexican policy as the storm center. President Wilson issued a warning to the people not to be influenced by alarmist reports regarding the situation which, he said, were being disseminated by sinister and unscrupulous influences and in the interest of "certain American owners of property."

He reiterated that every effort should be made to prevent the punitive operations against Villa from assuming in the discussion the color of war.

At the capitol, senate Republicans were called into conference by their leader, Senator Gallinger, to discuss the border situation. They will meet again Monday, but it was admitted by those present today that the sense of the meeting was that steps should be taken to compel the sending of additional troops to guard the border states.

Would Mean Calling Out of Guard. In effect that would mean the calling out of the National Guard as almost all the mobile regulars are now on the border or in Mexico. Several Republican senators asserted that the minority members endorsed the sending of the expeditionary force after Villa, and wished only to co-operate with President Wilson in guarding the border states. They repudiated any suggestions that they were playing politics.

"If we cannot get anything done ourselves," one senator said, "we can, at least, by unanimous action arouse such public sentiment as to force action by the majority."

Sensors from border states telegraphed inquiries to towns along the international line as to the exact situation and the reasons for the alarm expressed in messages they have received. The replies will be considered at the conference Monday.

General Funston's message was a comprehensive review of the situation on the border and in the region where General Pershing's columns are believed to be closing in on the bandits. Secretary Baker announced that it stated positively as a matter of military information that here had been no strengthening of Carranza's garrisons at Mexican border towns since March 10, the day after the Columbus raid.

Officials Welcome Reports.

Officials today welcomed the report from Queretaro, the present seat of government in Mexico, that a favorable decision on the proposed protocol had been handed by General Carranza to James L. Rodgers, American special representative. The reply had not reached Washington when the department closed tonight. The agreement was worked out at the suggestion of General Carranza by Eliseo Arredondo, ambassador-designate from the de facto government and Counselor Polk of the state department.

It provides for contingencies that may arise during the joint pursuit of Villa, including the use by American troops of Mexican railroads. It was

DECLINE TO DISAVOW NEW SCALE AGREEMENT

ILLINOIS MINERS REACH ROLL CALL ON RESOLUTION

Convention Will Leave Ratification of Scale to Referendum—Will Proceed to the Adjustment of Internal Relations This Week.

Peoria, Ill., Mar. 25.—The Illinois division of the United Mine Workers of America today declined to disavow or endorse the New York scale agreement, roll call on the resolution as amended and on the original resolution being reached late today. The convention will proceed to the adjustment of internal relations during the coming week, leaving ratification of the wage scale to referendum.

The vote on the amended resolution to "disapprove," stood 116 for and 173 against. On the original resolution to "repudiate" the vote was 14 for and 205 against.

The three days discussion of the resolution and the amendment offered thereto revealed dissension among the executives of the state body that threatens to become an open rupture in succeeding days. Heated arguments on the floor of the convention between Secretary Duncan McDonald and Vice-president Heffley have taken place. Secretary McDonald answered the International President John P. White and made some personal remarks about Heffley.

McDonald insisted that White read documents before the New York scale committee which were stolen from his desk in Springfield. Heffley came to the defense of White, charging McDonald with leaning on the shoulder of John P. Walker, former president of the organization. McDonald retaliated and in the course of his reply, acquiesced in Heffley's statement that the scale agreement would be ratified, but continued "that is because we are not in a position to go on a strike."

President Farrington halted further argument.

President Farrington made a two and a half hour address to the delegates in which he made a plea for the convention to devote themselves to upholding the international officers and wage scale committee rather than to rebuke them.

LIMIT NUMBER OF WORDS SENT FROM FRONT BY CORRESPONDENTS

Censors State Military Necessity Precludes any Larger Use of the Wires for the Present.

Field Headquarters United States Army in Mexico, Mar. 25.—By Aeroplane to Columbus, N. M., Mar. 25.—Owing to limited wire and wireless facilities the total number of words which may be sent from here by correspondents is 250 or 300 daily. This number of words has been divided equally among the correspondents in the field so that with the present wire limitations the number of words which any newspaper may receive by wire during a day is about 25. The censors in announcing this limitation said that military necessity precluded any larger use of the wires for the present which are the only means of communication from the Field Headquarters to the front. The correspondents with the army are bound by the same regulations as the soldiers. None of them may visit Mexican towns outside the lines, and as at present the army is occupying no such towns all of them are outside the lines. Furthermore the censorship regulations do not permit of correspondents filing over any wires or by any other couriers than those designated by the censor. Up to the present no correspondents have been permitted beyond the field headquarters.

The front where the search for Villa is underway is more than 100 miles south. As that town is largely inhabited by Americans, members of the expeditionary force have been welcomed there, altho the camp is some distance outside of the town.

Except the brief daily dispatches by wireless all news passing the censor is carried back by army mails.

Brigadier General J. J. Pershing, in a talk to the newspapermen asked them not to use the name of officers or of military units. He explained in a general way the movements now being made against Villa. However, he cautioned the correspondents specifically against using any of this information. The newspapermen have shared the hardships of the soldiers on the marches.

DECATUR, Ill., March 26.—John Fahay was shot and probably fatally wounded early this (Sunday) morning as a result of an argument growing out of the local strike of Wash switchmen. G. C. Abley was arrested, charged with the shooting. Both men are switchmen.

A crowd of a hundred or more surrounded the policemen and Abley while awaiting the arrival of a patrol wagon and attempted to take him from the officer. Abley was rushed into a restaurant and a riot call turned in. The crowd battered in the doors of the restaurant in an attempt to lynch Abley, but quick action by the police saved him.

WILLARD RETAINS HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE

Champ Outpoints Moran in Ten Fast Rounds of Fighting

WILLARD BREAKS HAND

Blows From Cowboy's Fighting Left Keep Challenger at a Distance

CROWD OF 13,000 SEE FIGHT

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—Jess Willard is still the heavy weight pugilistic champion of the world. In ten rounds of fast fighting he defeated Frank Moran of Pittsburgh here tonight on points. A crowd of about 13,000 persons paid approximately $150,000 to see the fight and went away apparently satisfied with the result. It was the greatest gathering Madison Square Garden had ever seen. Many women were in the throng.

Willard broke his right hand in the third round, but blows from his fighting left kept Moran at a distance. Moran's best round was the third and his worst probably was the seventh. He was bleeding after the fifth round and his left eye was almost closed at the end.

Willard was rushed to the ropes in the third and received blow after blow on his face. The crowd sensed a knockout but the finishing punch was lacking. Moran put up a game fight. Most of the time he crouched and forced the fighting. Willard seemed slower on his feet than the challenger and appeared to have an unlimited capacity to take punishment. Moran scowled as he fought, but Willard smiled.

Give Moran Credit For Gameness.

The awarding of the bout to Willard on points was virtually unanimous among the experts about the ringside, altho all gave Moran credit for his gameness and continual efforts to land a punch on the champion that representatives gave Willard the bout on points were the following:

New York Herald, Times, Tribune, World, Sun, American, Press, Evening Journal, Telegraph and Philadelphia Inquirer.

Promoter Tex Rickard announced gross receipts, which amounted to $151,254. Of this amount, the gross receipts, which amounted to $11,134,344.05. Willard's share was $47,500, and Moran's $23,750.

Combined with the percentage taken by the state and the $7,500 paid for the rental of the garden, the expense totalled $90,094.05. To this must be added other expenses totalled $90,094.05. To this must be added other expenses which probably will bring the total up to about $100,000, so that Tex Rickard and his partner in the enterprise Sam McCracken will clear close to $50,000 profit on the bout.

Moran refused to make any statement after the bout other than to say there would have been no fighting if he had not taken the aggressive thruout the ten rounds.

Willard Refuses to be Interviewed. Willard left the garden immediately after the bout, refusing to be interviewed by newspaper men.

Dr. Lewis Morris, who attended the champion at his hotel, said Willard had suffered a fracture of the joint of the first index finger of his right hand early in the fight. He added however, that the big fellow otherwise was in good condition.

Rickard said after the fight: "Moran put up a good fight. He's a darn good boy. Willard was much slower than I thought he'd be. If he broke his right hand, it did not make much difference. He didn't seem to need his right a good part of the time."

The Fight by Rounds.

Round One—Willard jabbed Moran in the face with a left and the latter retaliated with three blows to the body, which Willard blocked. Moran hooked a left to Willard's jaw and took three left jabs to the face in return. Moran swung right and left to Willard's neck and received a hard right in the body. Moran missed a right and went into a clinch and Willard tore loose and landed a right and left to the head. Willard smashed him a terrific left in the face, dazing the challenger. Moran swung wildly with right and left, but Willard laughed as he blocked carefully. Willard's round.

Round Two—Willard took the aggressive. Moran came back and the pair exchanged blow for blow. Moran broke and backed away. Willard

REPORT BOTH SHIPS CARRIED AMERICANS RAISES AGAIN THE POSSIBILITY OF COMPLICATIONS

British Steamer Englishman Carried Four Americans—Twenty-five Aboard Sussex—Statements That Torpedoes Were Responsible Made in Both Cases.

Washington, Mar. 25.—The Channel Steamer Sussex, damaged yesterday in the English channel, and the British Steamship Englishman destroyed by an explosion both carrying American citizens were torpedoed, according to consular reports received by the state department. Flat statements that torpedoes were responsible were made in both cases but the consuls did not give the source of their information. Twenty-five Americans were on the Sussex whether any of them lost their lives or were injured was not established by the official reports, the news dispatches indicated that Americans might have been lost. Four Americans were aboard the Englishman. None was among the rescued landed at a British port.

Coming at a time when the department was awaiting the result of an investigation of the sinking of the Dutch liner Tubantia and considering submarine attack upon the French ship Patria, the destruction of the Englishman and the damaging of the Sussex raised again the possibility of complications between the United States and the Central European powers. The important dispatches regarding the Sussex came from American Ambassador Sharp at Paris. He reported from American Consul agent at Dieppe, Walter P. S. Palmer Samborne had informed him that the Sussex was torpedoed about six miles off the French coast while carrying 256 passengers and a crew of fifty-five and that sixty to eighty passengers had been wounded or killed.

Ambassador Sharp quoted Samuel Bemis, an American as saying that he had seen several persons killed in the explosion.

Ambassador Page at London reported that the British government had informed him of the disaster and supplied the names of the twenty-five passengers.

Before the dispatch from Ambassadors Sharp and Page were received instructions to forward immediately all available details of the Englishman and the Sussex disasters were sent to Consular and diplomatic representatives in England and France. First information regarding the Americans abroad the Englishman was received in a dispatch from Consul Armstrong at Bristol.

The fact that the Englishman had carried horses horses to St. Nazaire, France, before starting on her return trip during which she was destroyed, does not alter the case in the opinion of officials.

WOMAN ADMITS FIRING SHOT WHICH KILLED SHERIFF

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Mar. 25.—Held in the jail at Pufalia, Okla., charged jointly with her husband, Paul V. Hadley, formerly of Beaumont, Texas, and Kansas City, Mo., with the murder of Sheriff Jake Giles of Beaumont, who was killed on a Missouri, Kansas & Texas train near Checotah, Okla., early Friday morning, Ida Lee Hadley, youthful bride, admitted freely to reporters today that she fired the shot which killed Giles, who was taking her husband back to Beaumont to answer a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Mrs. Hadley also admitted that she, with a revolver, held back the crowd of passengers after the shooting.

BANDITS ATTACK TRAIN.

Monterey, Mex., March 25.—A special train from Torreon, bringing women and children of the American colony there, passed thru here tonight. The women were seated on the floor of a box car, protected by a barrier of trunks. The guard on the train engaged in a running fight with a large number of bandits who rode alongside for several miles from Preventen to Santo Nino. Wires were cut on both sides and attempts were made to burn the bridges.

REPORT SUSSEX WAS TORPEDGED

Twenty-Five Americans Were on Board—At Least Two Hurt

HEAD OFF RAIDER

Both Ships Are Sunk in the Resulting Engagement in the North Sea

NO RENEWAL OF ATTACKS

The Cross Channel Steamer Sussex, damaged by an exterior explosion on Friday afternoon while twenty-five Americans were on board was torpedoed according to a report from the American Consul at Dieppe, received by the state department in Washington thru Ambassador Sharp at Paris. The report gives from 60 to 80 persons wounded or killed by the explosion. Of the Americans on the steamer only two had been reported up to a late hour Saturday to the American embassy in London as among the saved. Unofficially however, several others have been accounted for as rescued.

At least two Americans on board are known to have been injured and one of the survivors declares that Miss Elizabeth Baldwin, an American, lost her life, while another American passenger is reported as missing.

Life Loss May Reach Forty. Cable dispatches say that the loss of life on the Sussex may reach a total of forty.

A definite statement that the Sussex was torpedoed comes in a Paris dispatch, quoting Samuel F. Bemis of Bedford, Mass., as declaring that he saw plainly and unmistakably, the wake of the torpedo as it came toward and struck the steamer.

The British naval guard in the North Sea headed off, on Feb. 29th, a German raider which was trying to run the blockade, it is officially announced in London. In the resulting engagement both the raider—the auxiliary cruiser Greif—and British armored ship that stopped her—the Alcantara—were sunk, the fight being described as a hot one, recalling the naval duels of the days before the ironclads. The British and German statements were at variance regarding the engagement. Only one British vessel is mentioned in the London admiralty account, while Berlin declares that three British cruisers and destroyer were in the action.

The Greif was struck by a torpedo from a 15,000 ton cruiser and finally blew herself up the German admiralty asserts. London says a torpedo from the Greif sent the Alcantara to the bottom.

The British captured some 150 Germans from the raider. Greif. There has been no renewal of the German attacks on Verdun fortress, but the artillery has been notably active, Paris reports. According to the German war office, Verdun was set on fire by German shells during the artillery exchanges. On the Russian front the German lines have been subjected to further heavy attacks both to the northwest and to the south of Dvinsk. Berlin, however, declares that all the Russian attempts to advance were complete failures.

Believe Some Americans Lost.

Paris, Mar. 25.—Scarcely any doubt exists at the American embassy tonight that some American lives have been lost in the disaster to the Steamer Sussex. The American ambassador William Gish Sharp sent Naval Lieut. Bernard L. Smith by automobile to Boulogne this afternoon to investigate the cause of the disaster and assist any Americans who may need help. The dispositions of some of the American survivors who have arrived at Paris are being taken by the embassy; they will be forwarded to the state department at Washington.

From thirty to fifty persons, according to the estimates here, out of 380 passengers and the crew of 54 were lost. The weight of testimony is that the Sussex was torpedoed by a submarine, without warning.

The "Pork" Munitions Plans.

Representative Lloyd of Missouri is evidently looking after his political fences. He has introduced a bill calling for the construction of a munitions plant at Hannibal, Mo., to cost the neat little sum of $5,000,000. If the government should decide to go into the manufacture of munitions the struggle for securing location of plants among congressmen would be as great as the efforts put forth in the past to secure government buildings. The munitions plant bill looks very much like a "pork measure."

Political Polls.

Political polls are interesting even if they prove nothing and that they do prove nothing is an accepted fact. The Nation and the New York Evening Post have just made known the preliminary details of a presidential poll which has covered a number of states. Out of 2,479 who replied to questions asking whom they supported in 1912 and whom they favor for the presidency now, 1,085 declared for Wilson. On the face of the returns the president looks like a strong leader, but the answers show that of the total number 1,108 voted for Wilson in 1912, so that in reality he has lost supporters. Hughes, among Republican possibilities, leads all candidates with a vote of 724. Root was given 627 and Roosevelt 263. Then a few scattering votes were given for Taft, Sherman, Burton, Cummings, Borah, LaFollette, McCall, Weeks, Fairbanks, Lodge, Herrick and Nagel. But the most interesting thing about a poll of this kind with no knowledge of the exact territory covered is to wonder who the people are for who were not consulted or who failed to reply to the inquiries sent.

United As One.

We are standing together united as one, no longer we waiting, our watchword is done. The Columbia bids all her sons to be wise, stand shoulder to shoulder, when troubles arise. Americans now with the hyphen no longer, and dropping the hyphen our ties are grown stronger. America asks, and no rights will she take, but the rights which she asks for humanity's sake. And asking the right for humanity's cause, right well will she punish the breaker of laws. So we bring forth our flag and unfurl to the breeze and let it wave over the land and the seas; And all will salute that banner of stars that waves o'er the boys who are off to the wars. The fight over the boys of Columbia are called into action. 'Tis our home-land now, the freest of nations, and the raid o'er the border, the latest sensations. But no matter what the sensation and fuss, boys this is the country, the country for us. It offers its freedom, it offers its homes, so let us stand by it no matter what comes. Hoist the Star Spangled Banner, unfurl to the breeze and let it float over the land and the seas. Yes, hoist that bright banner, unfurl it on high, and swear to protect it or with it to die. Arise now ye sons, ye sons of all races with the light of its glory illumining your faces. Americans now with no hyphen that bars, but united as one beneath our beautiful stars.

—S. ADRIAN HUGHES.

Senate Prospects.

That the next senate will be Republican is the firm conviction of the political prognosticators. A change of eight members would evenly divide the senate and leave the deciding vote on important questions to the vice president. A change of nine would give the Republicans a majority of two. The estimate of the Republicans and what is more important—of well informed and impartial newspaper correspondents is as follows: That the Republicans will gain one senator in each of these states: Maine, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, Ohio, Montana, Nevada and Nebraska and two in Indiana, making ten in all. They class Maryland and Arizona as doubtful, but think the strong probabilities are that the latter will return a Republican to succeed Ashurst. Some of the correspondents claim that the Republicans will lose a senator in North Dakota, altho that prediction is stoutly denied by the North Dakota Republicans. Taking the newspapermen's estimate, therefore, the Republicans will gain at least ten, probably eleven, and stand a fair chance to gain twelve, will lose one, so that they will control the senate by a majority of from two to six.

Enlistments Come Slowly.

According to reports which are received from many quarters the effort on the part of the government to secure army enlistments on account of the trouble in Mexico have not met with great success. In St. Louis there are a number of recruiting stations and they are kept open until 10 o'clock at night and a great deal of solicitation work is done. In spite of this campaign for recruits only 150 young men have been secured in a month's time.

Army officers believe no great interest in enlistment can be created unless a formal declaration of war comes. The fact is that citizens of this country except those who actually live on the border hold Mexican soldiery in contempt and look upon the present trouble as something that can be settled in a short time with a few regiments of United States troops. They see no special danger to this country in the affair and so there is no call to patriotism, nor does the prospect of a march thru the wilds of Mexico prove alluring.

The Day of Stampedes Gone.

Conditions surrounding national political conventions have changed greatly in these latter years. It used to be that stampedes could sometimes be planned in advance and executed successfully, but that day has gone by and demonstrations in national conventions lasting for hours in favor of some one candidate of other simply amount to a whole lot of useless noise.

When the Republican convention meets in Chicago in April a number of the delegates will go instructed in behalf of favorite sons, but the great body of them will be gathered there with preference in mind, but ready to counsel and to nominate whom they believe gives greatest promise of uniting the party and bringing success at the polls in November.

It's a good chance that has come with the years, for while some stamped candidates of the past have been men of great capability, the selection of a party's national candidate should be made as a result of calm consideration of the great issues at stake.

Roosevelt and the Presidency.

If the New York Sun is correct the question of Colonel Roosevelt's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination will not be long in doubt. The Sun claims to have authority for the statement that following the return of Colonel Roosevelt from his six weeks' trip in the West Indies, that very soon his announcement will be made and he will become an active candidate for the support of Republican and Progressive votes. His friends claim that on the first ballot he will have at least 200 votes and that a great many others will come to him after the first ballot.

A few years in politics bring many changes. Following the convention in 1912 there were thousands of Republicans who declared they would never support Roosevelt again for any office on earth. For a time the colonel's influence seemed to deteriorate very rapidly and he almost passed from public consideration in connection with any political preference. But the coming of the European war and the renewed troubles in Mexico were events which gave him the possibility for again getting before the public eye. The fact that there is a wide sentiment for a candidate of a very vigorous type has been another influence tending to give the former president more prominence and today it must be admitted even by those who are unalterably opposed to him that he looms up quite largely on the horizon as a formidable candidate. If he should be nominated the great majority of the party would not doubt be willing to forget the past.

W. C. T. U. INSTITUTE SESSION AT FRANKLIN

Profitable Program Carried Out Friday at Methodist Church.

Members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in good number assembled Friday at Franklin M. E. church for the annual spring institute. Luncheon was served at noon by the Franklin W. C. T. U., and the afternoon program was begun by a song and scripture reading, with Mrs. Sawyer of Franklin presiding in the absence of Mrs. Galaway of Meredosia, who was kept at home by illness. Greeting was given by Mrs. J. B. Perkins, president of the W. C. T. U. of Franklin and a pleasing response was made by Mrs. S. B. Gray of Jacksonville.

A talk on the necessity of interesting the youth of the land in temperance topics was given by Miss Olive M. Blunt. After a general discussion on how to secure new members, the company sang, "Blest be the Tie that Binds," and Mrs. Sarah J. Cocking led in prayer. "Are public schools a training for citizenship?" was the theme of a talk by Mrs. Perkins. Mrs. Sarah J. Cocking spoke on "The Duties of the W. C. T. U. officers." She pointed out the necessity of thorough study on the part of each officer of the union. Mrs. J. B. Perkins spoke on, "What I have seen of the cigarette," and Mrs. Sadie Darley gave a talk on, "The Relation of the W. C. T. U. to Other Organizations."

After a song "All around the world the ribbon white is tied," Mrs. Cocking spoke on the financial plans of the W. C. T. U., and the temperance doxology was sung. Mrs. Sadie Darley led in prayer, bringing to a close the institute, very successful and full of spirit and courage thruout.

Why Batteries Don't Last Forever

After repeated inquiries as to what the life of a storage battery should be, the subject has been covered in brief by the Willard Storage Battery Company of Cleveland. They contend first of all that its life depends upon its construction, its care and the service it receives.

"Take all together, a storage battery well-cared for costs less to maintain than any other accessory as vital. If kept charged at proper rate and filled with pure water, the life of a first-class battery averages from 1-2 years up.

"At the same time, a battery, however well made and well cared for, will wear out and must be renewed. It is an electro-chemical apparatus constantly changing its condition to supply current for lamps and starter. The better the materials, care and factory service, the longer its life. Some motorists believe a battery should last indefinitely like a spring or an axle, but this belief is being overcome by the educational measures of progressive manufacturers who want their customers to know why certain facts are facts."

The Willard Company has done much along these lines and the result is evident in the better care batteries are receiving everywhere.

TOM H. BUCKTHORPE

Tender Teeth—the first sign of Pyorrhea

When you brush your teeth, does it feel as though you were brushing against the quick? Do the gums sometimes bleed? This is because pyorrhea has caused the gums to pull away from your teeth, leaving the unenamelled surfaces unprotected.

Your dentist will tell you, if you ask him, that you have gum recession; and that gum recession is caused by pyorrhea.

Unchecked, pyorrhea will warp and shrink and deform the gums. It will break down the bony structure into which the teeth are set—and you will eventually lose them. To save your teeth you will have to begin to fight this dread disease at once.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before poorha grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25c is sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. Get Senreco of your druggist today; or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Santanel Remedies Company 503 Union Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

NOTABLE BIRTHDAYS.
March 26.

David Alfred Thomas, the man who has charge of the British munitions purchases in the United States and Canada, under Lloyd George, is 60 years old today. He has refused a peerage, has fought for an eight-hour working day for British miners, long before the matter became a political question, and is one of the few men of high finance that is beloved by his workmen. "D. A.", as he is known in England, is one of the largest coal operators in the world. A few years ago he organized the Cambrian Coal combine, one of the most powerful combinations in Britain. He was born at Monmouthshire, in Wales, March 26, 1856, the son of a wealthy colliery owner. He was educated at Cambridge, where he won academic honors. He began work with a pick in the mines and was a clerk in his father's office. He entered parliament representing a large mining constituency, and served for twenty years. In addition to favoring the miners he had tried out experiments in arbitrating their disputes, and showed a rare knowledge of how to handle men. Mrs. Thomas and her daughter were allied with the Pankhurst suffragists, and both were arrested during the militant demonstrations. Mr. Thomas came to America and Canada last summer and investigated the munition work that was being done for Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George's department. He was selected for this mission because the munitions question was the most vital one of the war. He has worked quietly but thoroughly, and England now knows just what is being turned out and just how much more can be secured.

ATTENDANT AT HOSPITAL
ATTACKED BY PATIENTS

Walter Barber Bound and Choked by Three Who Planned Escape—Timely Assistance Came.

Walter Barber, an attendant at Jacksonville State hospital, had a very unpleasant experience Friday night when he was attacked by Walter Bowers, a patient, and severely choked. The happening occurred about 10 o'clock, just after Barber, who is relief night watch, went on duty and made his rounds with Ernest Lampley, the day attendant. The latter had just left the ward when Barney Huse, a patient, came from his room and asked Barber for some medicine, saying he was very sick. The attendant went into an adjoining room to secure the medicine and Bowers arose from his bed and followed.

The patient asked Barber for some medicine, and stepping nearer suddenly seized and "strongly" him. The attendant was thrown to the floor and choked in such a way that he could not make an outcry. Then a third patient, Nick Masrang, ran into the room, bringing several strong strings, evidently made from pieces of bedding, which had been knotted together. While two of the patients held Barber the third tied one of the strings around his neck hard and fast. They then started to tie his wrists. Just at this juncture it happened that Dr. Lowe came on the ward and the three patients at once sprang from the floor and permitted the doctor to loosen the cords which bound the attendant. Emil Hagel, chief night watchman; Superintendent Hill, Dr. Atherton and Dr. Ersling were soon on the scene and the three patients were ordered to the hydro ward.

Barber remembers hearing one patient tell the others to bind his wrists and act quickly. He also remembers hearing them say they would not hurt him, and he believes that the three had formed a plot to tie him so he could not give an alarm and then make their escape. Notwithstanding his nerve-racking experience, Barber was able to stay on duty with another attendant during the night, but was weak from exhaustion. Yesterday he was still sore in his back and neck from the experience, which he does not care to repeat.

MISSSES ALEXANDER STILL TELL ABOUT WELLER'S VIRTUES

Man Who Duped Them Mightily Generous With Their Money—$1500 Given to Finance Proposed New Business Venture.

Misses Jeanette and Margaret Alexander arrived home from Chicago Saturday morning after their unfortunate near matrimonial experience with Louis Weller.

A Journal reporter called at the Alexander home Saturday evening to see if the ladies wished to make any statement. Both were most emphatic in their desire that nothing more be said about the matter in the papers. However, both talked freely of their experience with Weller and the big city by the lake.

Miss Jeanette Alexander who was the fiancée of Weller said, "Mr. Weller was just lovely with women and treated us both so nice. He was so free with money, took us to the theatre with a supper later and bought us everything." "Yes," interrupted Miss Margaret, "but he was spending our money."

Then both launched into detail of their acquaintance with Weller and what he said and did. It seems that Weller told them of his business career in Denver where he said he owned a cigar store. He even had photographs of it with his name over the door.

Felt Badly About Work.

"He felt so badly," said Margaret, when he had to work at making cigars after being a proprietor so long. He wanted to get back into business again. Then too the beautiful story he told of his interest in an estate in New York City, where in he was to secure $12,000 for his share. This was the culmination of his plan and where he made his final getaway with $1,500 cash and a diamond ring valued at $500.

When the party arrived in Chicago they went to the Great Northern hotel. There, according to the story, Weller was met by a friend. He was introduced to the Misses Alexander as a very "dear friend" of Weller's. In fact he was so wrapped up in Weller that he stopped at the hotel with him. This gentleman said that he wanted the marriage to take place at his father's home.

Then Weller appeared with the alleged telegram telling of the settling of the estate in New York. He said he had to leave immediately for New York. Miss Jeanette remonstrated and said he surely was not going to leave when the marriage was to take place on Monday. Weller said it would not make much difference to wait a few days. He then went down to the lobby saying he would be back at 6 o'clock.

Suspicion Finally Came.

It was about this time that the Alexander girls began to have suspicions that Weller was not going to live up to his promise. Miss Margaret said she stationed herself so that she could watch the door of Weller's room so that if he came after his baggage they would see him. She said she must have stepped away for a moment for when she next noticed the door of Weller's room it was open. Investigation was made and Miss Jeanette exclaimed, "Oh, he has gone with the money and the ring."

During the afternoon Weller's friend called at the room of the Misses Alexander and asked for Weller. He was told that Weller had gone out and would be back at 6 o'clock. The friend then disappeared. It is probable that his visit was for the purpose of ascertaining if the women had suspicions that Weller was not coming back.

When the women found that Weller had vacated the room they threw on their wraps and hurried to the office. There they found Weller had paid his bill and checked out. Then the house detective was appealed to. He told the women that if they had notified him before Weller paid his bill he could have been apprehended easily. Then began the search. Miss Jeanette accompanied a detective to one of the railroad stations where a train was about to start for the east. They went thru the train and looked for the missing Lochinvar but he could not be found.

Affection Not Yet Dead.

Even the Weller worked a brazen confidence game the women could not refrain from telling of his many admirable qualities. Of his playing on the piano and how nice he was about the house. Of his consideration for their welfare at the Great Northern hotel in Chicago. One could see that even yet there was a lurking affection in their hearts for the recreant Weller.

The Misses Alexander said that they had talked with Chief Davis and had given him a picture of Weller. Chief Davis expects to have the picture with descriptions printed and send them thruout the country. A reward also will be offered for the man's apprehension. It is possible that if Weller is apprehended the thing may be secured but it is not likely that he will have much of the money left if he is a good spender as the Misses Alexander say he is.

For every occasion there is a suitable Hat shown by FRANK BYRNES Hat Store.

AMERICANS WATCH MANNER IN WHICH TROOPS TREAT MEXICANS

Express Belief that Troops Will Have Opportunity to Establish Business Prosperity Between U. S. and Northwest Mexico.

Field Headquarters, Mar. 25th.—via Aeroplane to Columbus, N. M., Mar. 25th.—Americans who reside in the portion of Mexico thru which the army chasing Villa has marched, express the belief that, barring conflict with the Mexican army the Americans troops will have an opportunity to establish business prosperity between the United States and northwest Mexico. There is at present no indication at field headquarters that any fighting is likely, except that sought with the members of Pancho Villa's band.

Therefore the Americans in touch with the pursuing troops are watching an unusual phase of the troop movement, namely the manner in which the Americans treat the Mexicans as individuals.

These Americans declare that they look for the United States army, which pays as it goes, to create a good impression.

DUNNE DECLINES TO ISSUE NEW REQUISITION FOR J. W. TALBOT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 25.—Governor Dunne declined to issue a new requisition today for John W. Talbot of South Bend, Ind., president of the Order of Owls, because, he said, there was not sufficient evidence that Talbot was a fugitive from justice. The governor, however, allowed Benjamin Alschuler, attorney for officials of the Loyal Order of Moose who are alleged to have been defamed by Talbot, five days in which to file a brief setting forth why Talbot should be considered a fugitive from justice. Arthur Fitzgerald, a local attorney representing Talbot, said he would reply to the brief two days later and the governor's final decision will be made some time after that.

MOVE TO STOP CIRCULATION OF ALARMING REPORTS FROM DOUGLAS

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Mar. 25.—Mayor C. O. Ellis, the Douglas Chamber of Commerce and Mines and other local organizations and prominent citizens took steps today to stop the circulation of alarming reports from this section of the border. This action followed the receipt of statements made in a telegram from D. A. Richardson, an attorney to Senator Henry F. Ashurst, which were read yesterday by the Arizona senator during the morning session of congress.

Mayor Ellis in a statement issued early in the afternoon said that the reports said to have been sent out by Mr. Richardson to the effect that large numbers of Mexican troops were being concentrated within a few blocks of the business center of Douglas, was "an unqualified falsehood," and that it was to be regretted that there is no law providing suitable punishment for its malicious perpetrators.

BELIEVE WAITE HAD DESIGNS ON LIVES OF FOUR PERSONS

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—From statements made by Mrs. Margaret Horton, a singer, District Attorney John T. Dooley said tonight that the authorities had reason to believe that Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, accused of poisoning his wealthy father-in-law, John E. Peck of Grand Rapids, Mich., had designs on the lives of at least four persons. Mrs. Horton, according to Mr. Dooley admitted that she shared a studio with Waite at a hotel here, and that Waite registered with her as "Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Walters."

Mrs. Horton who was subjected to an all day examination, was said by Mr. Dooley to have stated that she believed Waite planned to kill her and her husband. "Mrs. Horton," continued Mr. Dooley, "has reason to believe, according to her statement, that Waite was trying to persuade her to take some kind of medicine."

WHITE SLAVE CHARGE

AGES WEALTHY LUMBERMAN

W. R. Edwards Must Stand Trial Under Mann Act—Defendant is Anxious to Have Case Finally Settled.

Chicago, March 25.—Unless his doctor can prevent him, William R. Edwards, wealthy St. Paul lumberman, will appear in the federal court here Monday when his name is called. Edwards, who is barely 30 years of age, has been made snow-haired, aged and ill by the charge of white slavery which has been brought against him. He has opposed the repeated delays in the trial of his case, for he wants to get it all over with.

Edwards' face is deeply lined. He looks like a man of 50, instead of the bright, jolly "Billy" Edwards, who three years ago met Ada M. Cox, a Chicago stenographer. His affairs with the Chicago girl has wrought the change in him, for it has resulted in his indictment by a federal grand jury on the charge of having transported Miss Cox from Chicago to St. Paul for immoral purposes.

Gradually the snow-haired man has been regaining his strength after a sick that all but sent him into a complete nervous collapse. He came to Chicago a few weeks ago to stand trial, but the hearing was postponed. It was understood by Edwards and his attorney that the case was to be dropped. Overjoyed, Edwards returned to his family and his health began to mend. His step took on the buoyancy of youth. Then a few days later he was sitting at home with his wife, to whom he has been wedded since his troubles began. They were playing with their baby son, when the telephone rang. Edwards answered it. His face blanched and he tottered to his chair. He had just been told that the Washington Information received in Chicago had been an error and that the government was ready to proceed at once with his trial on the Mann act charge brought by Miss Cox.

Edwards suffered a complete collapse, and was unable to come to Chicago. The government sent a physician to examine him, and he confirmed the condition of the accused lumberman.

"In the three years that have passed since Edwards first met Ada Cox," says Edwards' physician, "he has seen much trouble. He has lost his law suits. He has been prosecuted as a 'white slaver,' he has lost his health and he has aged immeasurably. His condition has been such in the past few weeks that I forbade his going to Chicago to undergo the hardships of trial."

PENNSYLVANIA WIPING

OUT BUCKET SHOPS

Harrisburg, Pa., March 25.—The Consolidated Stock and Produce exchange with which alleged bucket shops in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kansas, New York and other states are affiliated, must answer on Monday to the suit brought by the state, by showing cause why it is operating as it is and whether it is violating the Pennsylvania anti-bucket shop law. The suit was brought by the state in connection with the sixteen raids that were made by the state police on alleged bucket shops in Pittsburgh and other Pennsylvania cities, on March 10. There were sixty arrests in Pittsburgh alone.

In connection with the raids and the suit against the exchange, the following statement was issued from the attorney general's office: "Early last year Governor Brumbaugh determined that Pennsylvania would be cleared of bucket shops. To that end the attorney general, in connection with the federal authorities, has been working for months in preparation. Since the passage of the act of 1907 prohibiting bucket shops in this state, all such shops have affiliated, either directly or as correspondents, with the so-called exchange in Pittsburgh for the purpose of giving a semblance of regularity and legality to their operation."

"This exchange was originally organized in 1901 for legitimate purposes, but shortly after the passage of the act its control was taken over for the purpose it has since been used for. The attorney general is proceeding to have the charter annulled. This work will be pursued until this most vicious form of gambling—and, in many cases, thievery—is abolished in Pennsylvania."

PANKHURST ADDRESSES

AMERICAN SLAVES.

Chicago, March 25.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst will speak tomorrow at the Slavonic mass meeting in Chicago. Since the outbreak of the European war, she has devoted her energies to recruiting work. Cedomil Mijatovitch, the Serbian minister to the United States, is also announced as a speaker at the meeting.

Scott B. Green of the vicinity of Antioch called in the city yesterday.

A. F. SHELDON OF CHICAGO.

WILL ADDRESS YOUNG MEN

Head of Well Known Advertising School Will Speak at Reorganization Meeting of Booster Club.

Plans are about completed for the meeting of organization of the Young Men's department of the Chamber of Commerce. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock in the rooms above the Peacock Inn.

A. F. Sheldon, of the Sheldon school of Chicago, business expert, has accepted an invitation to be present and address the young men of Jacksonville. He is the founder and organizer of the famous Sheldon school of Chicago, and is a lecturer of wide reknown. His subject will probably be Salesmanship.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the meeting report lots of interest among the young men and a large attendance is being arranged for. Plans were first laid for a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms but the indications for such a large attendance made it necessary to use a larger room. The members of the Chamber of Commerce and business men in general are invited to attend this meeting and hear Mr. Sheldon on Salesmanship and Business Building.

Any young man 16 years of age or over is eligible for membership in the Young Men's department of the Chamber of Commerce or "Booster's Club," as it is commonly called. Applications are received and passed on by the executive committee of the club. Any business man is eligible for membership if he or his firm hold a membership in the Chamber of Commerce.

The Young Men's department is affiliated with the Chamber of Commerce as one of the seven departments, and by virtue of their office the president and secretary are members of the board of directors, providing the club has two memberships in the Chamber of Commerce.

The dues are $1.00 a year. This money goes into the treasury of the club and is used for the promotion of its own undertakings.

The general policy of the club is to promote celebrations, festivals, etc., that will bring people to Jacksonville; to co-operate with the rural affairs committee in boosting good roads, and to put life in the various undertakings of the Chamber of Commerce. At the same time the association with the man in charge of the affairs of the city at the present time will bring about a common relationship between the man of today and the man of tomorrow that can only be a fitting up of the young man for the responsibilities that will come to him later.

The meeting Tuesday evening is open to every young man and every man in business in Jacksonville, who is interested in himself and in Jacksonville. There will not be any banquet, the meeting is called for 8 o'clock and immediately after Mr. Sheldon's address the work of organizing one of the liveliest organizations in Jacksonville will be taken up.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Senator Blair Lee of Maryland, who is a candidate for renomination on the Democratic ticket, is opposed by David I. Lewis, who has been advocating in congress the postalization of the telephone and telegraph.

The entry of Governor Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania into the lists for the Republican nomination for the presidency is dissected in Washington as a move to divert finally the delegates captured by Brumbaugh to Roosevelt. That an alliance exists is admitted by a Progressive leader in Washington.

The Missouri Republicans are united in their fight to place former Supreme Judge Henry Lamm in the governor's chair.

Governor John H. Morehead of Nebraska is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the vice presidency. His name goes before the Nebraska primary on April 18.

Cham Clark has refused to be a candidate for delegate to the St. Louis convention, it is reported from Washington. The precedents of the speaker's office do not allow his absence for more than a day at a time.

Hon. Philander C. Knox, former secretary of state, has consented to be a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination in Pennsylvania, as successor to George T. Oliver. The veteran political leader is 63 years old.

NOTICE.

Sealed bids are hereby asked by the city council for supplying the city with one street flusher. Specifications are now on file in this office. Bids must be accompanied by certified checks for one-tenth of the amount of the bid. The council reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Bids will be received up to 10 a. m., April 3, 1916.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

It won't be long now until the bell rings for the big show in the major leagues to start. After a brief interval the minors will start and then fans thruout the length and breadth of the land will howl themselves hoarse over the feats of their favorite players.

There has not been much excitement over the spring training camps. It is probable that the European war and the present unpleasantness down on the Mexican border has had something to do with the apparent lack of interest. Then also the Willard-Moran bout which took place last night has occupied a large portion of the sporting space in the papers.

Not much has been said by various managers as to what they expect to do the coming year. It is conceded that the Boston Red Sox will have a formidable lineup and if the pitchers come back in anything like their 1915 form they will be in the running. The Detroit Tigers also should be considered. They will be fully as strong as last year and if the pitching staff shows strength the Tigers will be hard to beat.

One of the strongest teams on paper we have seen is New York. The Yanks certainly look good. With Pipp, Peckinpaugh and Home Run Baker on the infield and a youngster, Geddon, picked for second, the Yankees have a nifty looking infield. The outfield with Magee, Malsel and Gilhooly also looks good. It would seem if Donovan's catching department is good and his pitchers show anything the Yankees will be up among the first division teams. It would be asking a great deal of them to win a pennant but stranger things have happened.

The Browns are as yet an unknown quantity. It is true that Fielder Jones has a great aggregation of players gathered from the consolidation of the Browns and Federal team. Whether he can select a machine which will run smoothly remains to be seen. The one big thing in favor of the Browns is Jones' well known ability to get everything there is out of a ball player. If the going is at all good for Jones and he gets a pitching staff he must be reckoned with for he was always a great man at the finish.

Hannibal is trying to break into the Three Eye league. Or it might be better to say that the Three Eye league is trying to drag Hannibal into the circuit. Three Eye powers will make no mistake if Hannibal is added to the circuit. The first year Hannibal was in the Central association she played to 50,000 admissions. It is true that on the last day of the season the directors gave tickets away, yet in spite of that fact it is probable that the attendance was well over the 40,000 mark. Hannibal has some live baseball wires and they are not afraid to spend money. In addition there is a well equipped park ready for service.

The town has not had baseball for several years. It will be remembered that when Mr. Justice and Ned Egan up at Burlington decided to let Jacksonville out of the Central. Hannibal was the only city that voted to let us remain. Naturally we have always had a warm place in our hearts for Hannibal. When Hannibal was given the same dose by the powers of the Central every true fan in Jacksonville regretted it.

If Hannibal secures a berth in the Three Eye she will have the best wishes of Jacksonville. Time was that it took money to get into the Three Eye league. Now the berth is going begging. However, it will not be for long. Baseball is going to pick up and when it does the Three Eye will again be what it was for many years, the best minor league in the country.

Al Baldwin, the local fighter, is negotiating with Kansas City promoters for a battle with Benny Chavez. Chavez is one of the best little men in the country and has fought all of the good ones. He fought the main bout at Kansas City about two weeks ago when Baldwin fought Arensen. While Chavez is a scientific fighter Baldwin believes that he can beat him. Chavez is popular with the fight fans in Kansas City and if Baldwin can secure a bout with him he should clean up a good bankroll.

The past few days have given lots of people the baseball fever. The members of the local team have been taking light workouts and should be in condition when the umpire calls play for the first game. Coach Harmon of Illinois college has had his men working out in the baseball cage in the gymnasium and if the weather remains good will put them out doors for harder practice. Coach Harmon expects to have a good team this year. He has one boy on the Hill who should make an ideal catcher. That man is Reiffer. He caught for the Springfield high school team and has had considerable experience with other Springfield teams.

NEW ORLEANS DEFEATS CINCINNATI

NORTH CENTRAL INTERSCHOLASTIC ATHLETIC CONFERENCE IS FORMED

CHICAGO, Mar. 25.—Representatives from the state athletic associations of Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Indiana and Michigan in session here today organized the North Central Interscholastic Athletic conference to secure a uniform list of eligibility rules for the governing of interscholastic meets, that the universities and colleges in these states hold. This organization represents over 1400 high schools, with fully delegated powers for compiling and enforcing these rules. Jesse H. Newlon, of Decatur, Ill., was elected chairman and George Edward Marshall of Davenport, Iowa, secretary.

The necessity of such set of rules was pointed out by Newlon. He stated that under present conditions the various universities and colleges holding these meets have their own set of eligibility rules and as these often conflict, athletes from the various high schools competing in them are at a disadvantage. Among those present were:

Jesse H. Newlon, Decatur, Ill.; H. E. Brown, Kenilworth, Ill.; G. E. Marshall, Davenport, Iowa; G. A. Chamberlain, Milwaukee, Wis.; J. H. Schock, LaCrosse, Ind.; Dr. W. J. Monilaw and George Steffens, Chicago.

MOTHER! GIVE CHILD "SYRUP OF FIGS" IF TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, Clean Little Liver and Bowels.

Children love this "fruit laxative" and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 5-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. EAT WITHOUT FEAR OF INDIGESTION OR SOUR, ACID STOMACH Instant Relief! "Pape's Diapiesin" Ends Your Stomach Trouble Forever.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches, belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapiesin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapiesin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapiesin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.—Adv.

BLIND YOUTH EDITS WEEKLY PAPER AT MILFORD, OHIO

Says It Is Not Much More Difficult for Him to Edit a Paper Than Anyone Else.

Milford, Ohio, March 25.—C. Magee Adams, 22-year-old Ohio State university graduate, is the new editor of the weekly newspaper in this village, near Cincinnati.

He is blind. He writes heads, dictates the "make-up" of the paper, edits "copy" turned in by subscribers and country correspondents, writes editorials, reports local news and "reads" individually every line that fills four of the eight pages in his newspaper.

And that is not all. The paper has been revolutionized since the blind editor took charge a month ago, subscribers say. It now is arranged like a city daily with elaborate heads and "boxed features." It exhibits signs of enterprise which are as unfamiliar as they are interesting to its readers. The paper is called "The Valley Enterprise."

Adams uses a typewriter. An assistant reads many of the local items turned in by subscribers and he rewrites them in better news form. He attends meetings and recommends them well without taking a note. He knows the number of letters in the different styles of heads and devises them in the same manner as the editor who can see.

During spare hours he writes stories for magazines.

"It is not much more difficult for me to edit a paper than for anyone else," says Adams. He is annoyed at being considered a prodigy and is resentful of pity. He graduated last June from Ohio State university where he took courses in the school of journalism and was a reporter for the Lantern, the student daily newspaper. His home always has been in Milford and he has been blind since the age of 11.

MORAN TELLS HOW HE STARTED IN FIGHT GAME

New York, March 25.—"It is my red hair that got into the fighting game," says Frank Moran, the husky Pittsburgh Irishman. "It was this way. When I grew up to the tender age of ten, my hair was a flaming red. That gave the kids a chance to yell 'Red Head' at me, all of which peeved me considerably. There was only one way to stop it, and that was to whale them into silence. It took me about 2 years to finish the job. Some were bigger than I was, and I had to tackle those fellows three or four times before I could blacken their eyes."

"My first fight was for a five cent purse. It was staged in a caboose. The trainer arranged the affair and told me the boy they picked out had called me a red-head false alarm. The winner was to get a nickel. I won the fight. After that I used to scrap any kids that came to the caboose. Pretty soon I had eighteen nickels that I had won. Then I bet the eighty against the next fight on a bet. I won the fight, but the stakeholder had disappeared."

"I have been in the fight game ever since, and have been well fleeced by managers and promoters. But no loss ever hurt me so much as the loss of my eight cents. I have been shorn closer than any lamb in my career, and I am right glad to get hold of today's purse. They have trimmed me for the last time."

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE (By the Associated Press)

Paris.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The government was officially represented at a religious ceremony on the occasion of the funeral of the victims of the last Zeppelin raid for the first time since the separation of church and state. Mr. Denis Cochin, Minister of State, was present and the no official announcement of his attendance was made, the subject was debated in the cabinet which fast gave an official character to his presence. The ice once broken, there was no hesitation on the part of President Poincare a few days later religious services for the Israelites fallen on the field of battle on the different fronts. These two incidents were immediately followed by the meeting of the premier, Monsieur Aristide Briand, and Cardinal Mercier at Rome.

A few years ago any one of these incidents would have been sufficient to have caused the downfall of the government. Today they occasion little surprise and only limited comment. They have given rise to the question as to whether Monsieur Briand's famous doctrine of pacification between the clericals and anti-clericals will not prevail after the war.

MILAN, Italy.—The wide publicity given to the finding of the wreckage of the Zeppelin L-19 recently by William Martin, the skipper of the Grimsby steam trawler, King Stephen, has had a romantic sequel. Thru the publication of the story of his experience and his photograph, Martin discovered his only blood relative, a sister living in Birmingham, whom he had not seen for heard of for nineteen years. She wrote to him after reading the account and he replied with the result that brother and sister with their younger families were speedily reunited.

London, Mar. 26.—In demanding post-war reform of the whole railway situation in England, the Pall Mall Gazette makes some comparisons between English and American railways, mainly to the disadvantage of the former. It complains that while Great Britain is favorably located, is small and compact and offers the railways every advantage in the way of short and profitable hauls, British freight charges, far from being the lowest in the world, are the highest known anywhere.

"Although freight rates depend in first place upon the cost of labor," it adds, "and altho wages of railway men are three times as high in the United States as in this country, freight rates are far lower in America than here."

"The British railways, admitting the splendid service they have rendered during the war, are managed unenterprisingly. Toy engines pull toy cars. In this country a trainload of 150 tons is considered a trifling quantity is pulled by two engines. In America single engines may be seen hauling 3,000 tons. To move such a load a British railway would require twenty engines."

"Unrestricted competition has led to the needless doubling and tripling of railway lines. Countless small country towns have two or three stations and two or three sets of offices. Encouraging laziness and inefficiency, the railroads allow business men to use railway cars for storage purposes, and the result is that the bulk of the cars, loaded with merchandise of all kinds, encumber stations and sidings."

"The British railways are behind the railroads of America and many other countries in equipment, but they have per mile by far the largest capital in the world. In order to enable them to earn enormous dividends, railway financiers have piled up railway capital to the utmost. Their capital has been inflated and now directors demand that they be allowed to continue to pay dividends on this watered capitalization."

"By allowing the railways to charge whatever the traffic would bear, the government has permitted them to control trade. Railroads arbitrarily favor, hamper, or destroy industries and they charge on principle lower rates to foreign goods than to which must be 'attracted' than to British goods which are compelled to make use of the roads."

The Pall Mall Gazette does not favor national ownership, pointing out that "a government directed by amateurs and swayed in all directions by the desire for votes, a government which most incompetently manages army, postoffice, telephones and telegraphs, will scarcely be able to manage the railways efficiently." It believes, however, that the whole British railway system should be placed under central control of a small body of experts, representing stockholders, business men, the nation, and a representative of the government who would be the presiding officer.

The Hague, Netherlands, March 25.—The recent retirement of the Dutch Minister of Finance, Professor Marie Willem Frederik Treub—who since the outbreak of war has been a more prominent figure in the Cabinet than the Minister of War and perhaps more in the limelight even than the Prime Minister, Mr. Cort van der Linden, himself—evoked a feeling of regret, almost of dismay in wide circles here. The selection of his successor, Doctor Anton van Gyn, has, however, been very well received and is generally regarded as about the best and safest that could have been made.

The fall of the energetic, forceful, almost autocratic, Professor Treub, who carried thru the big war loan and has but recently introduced a whole set of measures to entirely reform the country's taxation system and incidentally produce a big increase in revenues, was the direct result of a vote of censure passed in the Second Chamber of the Dutch Parliament, in connection with what seemed a somewhat trivial dispute concerning the order of dealing with the Government's legislative program. The event led, however, to various surmises, it being openly suggested in one or two quarters that the fall was a cause of ministerial suicide for personal reasons. Thus, however, is emphatically denied by the retiring Minister himself.

As Treasurer General, the new minister has been Professor Treub's coworker in the Department of Finance, having been at the head of the Treasury for over ten years. He was, as a matter of fact, offered and declined in 1912 the portfolio he is now under pressure accepted. In his official capacity he has thus been the daily adviser of four successive Ministers of Finance, so that he is far from being a stranger to the duties he is taking up. Moreover, his appointment accords with the extra Parliamentary character of the whole ministry, which was formed by an "outsider" after the General Election when the parties constituting the Left majority failed to come to an agreement for the formation of a Cabinet.

The crisis had threatened seriously to endanger the big legislative program of the government, but this danger has been largely lessened by a division of the heavy burden that had rested on Professor Treub's shoulders. While Dr. van Gyn will, it is understood, retain the Tax Bills of his predecessor with a view to rescuing the country's finances from the perilous position in which the war crisis has thrown them, he is to be relieved of the social insurance section of his department, which passes to the Minister of Waterways and Public Works, Doctor C. Leij, who will thus have charge of the Old Age Pensions Bill that forms so prominent an item in the Government's program.

It is generally recognized that if Doctor Van Gyn succeeds in finding the big sums of money that will be essential in the next year or two to meet the strain of the long mobilization and the war crisis generally, and in carrying thru and providing for the war loans, he will have deserved well of his country. No one can yet tell what further strain may yet be put upon the little kingdom of the Netherlands in its perilous position in the midst of the great European conflagration.

THE HAGUE.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The Dutch government is being importuned to prevent further sale abroad of Dutch fishing trawlers and merchant ships. Such a large number of these vessels have been sold that the transfer—held in some quarters to be a factor in the increasing cost of living. Altho the herding and other fish have been remarkably plentiful, and the Dutch fishermen have had a fine market for their catches, the temptations of selling steam trawlers abroad at fancy prices has been so great that the single port of Ymuiden has just disposed of twenty-two such vessels, sixteen of them going to Norway. In some cases ten times the book value of old vessels can be obtained.

In some respects the sale of old ships has been of an advantage, for under construction in Dutch yards may turn out new vessels to take their places, in fact more than double the tonnage of a year ago is now under construction in Dutch yards, but in broader way the reduction in merchant ships is regarded as a national handicap. The authorities are said to be considering a measure to prevent dutch ships hereafter from even loading in foreign harbors for other than home ports with a view to keeping down the cost of transportation of necessities. If this measure is adopted it will tend to increase already serious shipping difficulties of the Allies as well as various neutral countries since it will, for instance, prevent Dutch merchant men from sailing cargoes between America and Great Britain or coal from Great Britain to France and Italy.

PAIGE
The Standard of Value and Quality

Now is the Time to Buy Your "Six-46"

Let us again urge you to place your order for a Fairfield "Six-46" as soon as you possibly can.

Don't wait too long—don't be too sure that you can buy to just as good advantage thirty or sixty days from now.

For—remember—there were three purchasers for each "Six-46" that we could turn out last year. And, up to the present time, there is every indication that this "sold out" condition will be repeated.

Then, also remember that the cost of manufacturing materials and labor is still soaring.

Already, several manufacturers have found it necessary to increase the list price of their cars, and more announcements of this kind are undoubtedly coming.

By early buying, we have done everything that we possibly could to protect ourselves and you. But in the face of a constantly rising market, we may be forced to increase prices proportionately.

From the present outlook there is no other alternative for we flatly refuse to compromise on the quality of our cars. We shall continue to use only the best materials—no matter how far the commodity prices may advance.

Of one thing you can be certain—the Paige "Six-46" will never cost less than $1295 this year. We absolutely guarantee this, but we can't undertake to guarantee against an advance.

Above all, please understand that this advertisement is written in a sincerely helpful spirit. It is by no means our purpose to "stampede" motor car buyers into early or ill-advised purchases.

We are merely telling you the facts—facts that can be readily substantiated by your banker or any man who is well informed in regard to industrial conditions.

We want you to drive a Paige, of course, but we have never found it necessary to resort to "expedients" in order to sell a single car of our production.

The "Six-46" now costs $1295. At that price, we honestly believe that it represents more actual dollar-for-dollar value than any other motor car on the market.

Wait too long—and you run the risk of paying more.

Place your order now, and you can rest assured that you will never regret the decision.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES.

The regular devotional meeting will be held at Academy hall on Sunday evening, at 6:30. The leader will be Mr. Charles J. Huxel, '19. The campus improvement committee has ordered a thousand new shrubs. These shrubs will be set out on the campus this spring.

John M. Phillips, '12, who was called to Illinois on account of the death of his uncle, the Rev. Preston Wood, was present at the student meeting on Wednesday morning and delighted the students with his remarks. Mr. Phillips has just graduated from the Boston Theological Seminary, and is at present pastor of a church near Boston, but expects to enter Harvard next fall in order to study for a Master's degree.

Mr. K. A. Shumaker, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was present at the chapel exercises Thursday morning, and gave a very interesting talk to the students on "True Greatness."

The trees of the campus have been banded in order to trap the spring canker worm. The work was done under the direction of Professor Isabel Smith of the Biological department.

The Y. W. C. A. have recently become interested in making clothing for the associated charities.

Several new books have recently been added to the college library. Among them is the "Life of Clara Barton" by Percy H. Epler, '92, donated by the author. Five volumes of "Covenant Garden Journal" by Henry Fielding, the gift of the Yale university press. Several reference books have been added to the Philosophy and Bible department.

Word has been received that David Arthur Hughes, former instructor of English and Oratory in Illinois college, died in Chicago on February 14th.

Reuben V. Gunn, ex '12 of the Wisconsin university college of Agriculture was a speaker at the grain show of the Langlade county branch of the Wisconsin experiment association at Antigo.

The new stereopticon is proving of great benefit to the different departments of the college. The college wishes to express, especially its appreciation of the lantern slides which have been loaned by Mr. S. W. Nichols. The slides "On the Rhine" were especially beautiful and they have been enjoyed by the students and also by the ladies of Sorosis who held their meeting in the chapel on Friday. At the Sorosis, the other slides used were the property of the college and they were made from photographs which were taken by Miss Cole in Germany.

WHAT WILLARD HAS DONE

Jess Willard fought his first bout in February, 1911, at Sapulpa, Okla., and lost it on a foul in the tenth round to Louis Fink. The only remarkable thing about the cowboy fighter was his enormous physical bulk. He fought like an amateur, and lacked the boxing training so necessary in the ring. Three weeks after his first fight, he met Ed Burke and put over the knockout punch in their round. In the same month he met Fink again and knocked him out in three rounds.

These victories encouraged Willard, and he fought regularly thru that year, and 1912, ending most of his bouts with a knockout. His opponents were not fighters of the first rank, were generally smaller men, and were led to defeat by wide-open tactics. He fought Arthur Pelky and Luther McCarthy, but these were ten-round no-decision affairs. Sailor White and Soldier Kerns late went down for the count of ten under the impact of the cowboy's crushing blows.

In 1913, Willard fought eleven bouts and won them all, with the exception of a 20-round battle with Gunboat Smith in California, in which Smith got the referee decision. During that year, Willard outpointed Carl Morris in New York. George Rodell and George Davis were both knocked out by the cowboy in December of that year.

In 1914, Willard outpointed Tom McMahon, knocked out Dan Dailey in nine rounds and Rodell in six rounds. Last year he was selected from the available "white hopes" to go against Jack Johnson. Curiously enough, it was Frank Moran's battle with Johnson in Paris that paved the way for this championship battle. It decided the point that Johnson could be beaten by a big, husky fighter. Willard, thru fortune's favor, was selected to retrieve the championship, and he accomplished the job in the big bout at Havana.

Willard has been generously knocked and praised, and there is a wide difference of opinion as to his fighting abilities. Tonight's bout will settle his status as a fighter. For, though the bout is for only ten rounds, he will have to show his wares in that time, and there will be plenty of boxing experts on hand to pass judgment.

Maternity! The Word of Words

And What a World of Help There is By a Little Timely Knowledge

It is written into life's expectations that motherhood is the one sublime accomplishment. And if there is anything, no matter how simple, how apparently trivial, it may seem, if it can aid, help, assist or in any way comfort the expectant mother, it is a blessing. And such is a readily called "Mother's Friend."

You rely it over the stomach muscles. It is gently rubbed on the surface, and makes the muscles pliant; this relieves the strain on ligaments, natural expansion takes place without undue effect upon the nerves. And as the time approaches, the mind has gone through a period of repose, of gentle expectancy, and this has an unquestioned influence upon the future child. That this is true is evidenced by the fact that three generations of mothers have used and recommended "Mother's Friend." Ask your nearest druggist for a bottle of this splendid remedy. He will get it for you. And then write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 807 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most interesting book of information to prospective mothers. It is mailed free.

Write today. It is a book you will enjoy. It is replete with important and timely topics such as a description of the nerves, muscles and parts involved, the strange mystery of a new baby, the law of contagion, first aid, postnatal exercises, a maternity chart, diet list and many other subjects briefly told but of value to all women and particularly so to one who is to become a mother. It is mailed free to all who write for it.

NEW GROCERY STORE OPENED ON WEST STATE STREET

Wilson & Harding Have Modern Establishment in the Williamson Building—Business on Cash Basis

The Wilson & Harding grocery store in the Williamson building on West State street opened for business Saturday. Both of the proprietors have had experience in this line of business and they have a thoroughly up to date store. A new front of the most modern type was put in the building and the interior has been made very attractive with new paint and paper and modern fixtures. All the goods offered for sale are marked in plain figures and nearly all are so arranged that the prices are plainly visible to the customers. Well known lines of canned goods are included in the stock and are so priced that the store will offer great opportunities for people who appreciate good goods at saving prices. The business will be run on a strictly cash basis and goods must either be paid for when ordered or upon delivery.

Both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Harding are young men who stand well in the community and everything about their store indicates that they have a thorough knowledge of the business and know the wants of the people of Jacksonville and surrounding territory.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

A movement has been launched to raise money to erect a memorial to perpetuate the heroic sacrifices of the soldiers from Morgan county, who participated in the civil and other wars. It is proper that such a shaft should be erected as a lasting tribute to the valor of those who went forth in their young manhood and stood as a wall of fire and steel between our loved homes and war's desolation. The boys of the sixties who enlisted from Morgan county at the call of the immortal Lincoln, were the flower of the historic old county, and every one of their names is worthy of a niche in the temple of fame. Many of them took part in all the stirring campaigns of the western department, and on their battle flags in Memorial Hall are inscribed the names of Shiloh, Siege of Corinth, New Madrid, Island No. 10, Vicksburg, Chickamauga, Chattanooga, Missionary Ridge, Rocky Face Ridge, Resaca, New Hope Church, Dallas, Peach Tree Creek, Chattahoochee, Jonesboro, and the gory contests around Atlanta, and the crowning event of the four years' contest, the march to the sea, which crowned Sherman's name with immortality and gave the sons of Illinois a crown of fadeless glory for valor won on the crimson fields in the southland.

The memory of those heroic days are surely worth perpetuating, even to the end of time. Nearly every county in the state of Illinois have erected monuments in honor of those who fought and fell on the field of battle and why not historic old Morgan with all its glorious associations and patriotic record of the days when the life of the nation hung in the balance? Old Morgan gave to the state and the nation the great war governor and peerless orator, Richard Yates, whose good right signed the commission of the greatest warrior the world ever produced, U. S. Grant, a man whose eloquence called to the colors a quarter of a million of as brave men as ever marched to glory and the grave, more than 40,000 of whom never returned from the crimson fields of the south, a vast number of whom perished from starvation in prison stockades. Soldiers from Morgan were a part and parcel of this grand army who saved the Union from wreck and ruin, and made old glory a symbol of liberty and progress even to the remotest parts of civilization, and placed our blood bought republic well to the fore as a world power to be reckoned with, and the brightest jewel in the galaxy of nations. So, in order to perpetuate the valor of those who made all this possible, it is proposed to build an enduring memorial that should be as up as an beacon light to lead future generations along the path of patriotism, duty to their God, their country and their homes.

At a meeting of Matt Starr post last Friday night the following members were appointed as an executive committee to have charge of all the details of the affair in bringing about the much hoped for consummation:

Major C. E. McDougall.
Capt. J. M. Swales.
James F. Self.
W. H. Jordan.
C. R. Taylor.

The committee feels confident that the patriotic people of Jacksonville and Morgan county will respond to the appeal for funds to build a memorial that will be a credit to themselves and to Morgan county, for which future generations will rise up and call them blessed.

TOIL AND TROUBLE.

"I saw you breezing around in your new automobile last evening," remarked the learned physician. "I suppose you'll be feeling so proud and haughty that you won't notice ordinary people, now that you have your own buzz wagon."

"I may be swollen up with false pride when I have become an expert with the blamed machine," replied the licensed embalmer, "but just now I'm humble and mindful of death. The man who sold me the car said I'd be perfectly fluent with it in two days. I've been running it two days, and it has my goat. I'm so nervous when I'm steering that I jigger-naut around town that I'd die of heart failure if my hat blew off."

"Running an auto is simple enough in theory. You learn the use of all the levers and push buttons and dummies, and so long as you have the street to yourself you get along pretty well. But just as sure as an emergency rises, the beginner will forget the use of all those levers and annunciators, and whatever he does will be the wrong thing."

The brake pedal is right in front of you, convenient for your right foot, and a few inches away is the accelerator. When you push the brake pedal your car slows down, and when you push the accelerator she speeds up. The most superficial reasoner can see how this will lead to trouble, when the amateur chauffeur gets his wires crossed.

"Last evening I was driving along

Punk street in a slow and stately manner. I had the car well in hand, and was feeling that at last I was monarch of all I surveyed. Every once in a while the beginner gets that feeling, and then something always happens to knock the conceit out of him, and remind him that he will need a hundred years' experience before he can consider himself proficient.

Jamesworthy's big St. Bernard dog drifted out in front of the car, and seemed perfectly willing to be run over. I tooted the horn and yelled at the beast, and he just looked at me in the insolent manner of the Jamesworths, and seemed to dare me to do my worst. But I have a tender heart where dumb animals are concerned, and I didn't want to run over that dog.

"So I reached for the brake pedal when the dog was about ten feet away, intending to slow up, but of course I pushed the accelerator with all my force. Well, sir, that convulsed car just went up in the air about three rods, and came down on that fool dog like a thousand of bricks. Jamesworthy came whooping out, and dragged the remains of the dog from under the car, and said he'd have justice if he had to hire all the lawyers in town, and he wouldn't believe for a minute that I was trying to stop the car when I did the other thing."

"Oh, a man doesn't know anything about staple and fancy sorrows until he buys a car."

TORPEDOING OF VESSELS WITH AMERICANS ABOARD LOWERS WHEAT

Market Closes Unsettled, % to % of a Cent Lower—Corn Gains and Oats Drop.

Chicago, March 25.—Torpedoing of vessels with Americans aboard resulted today in lower prices for wheat. The market closed unsettled, % to % to % down at 1.08½ for May and 1.06½ to 1.06½ for July. Corn gained % to % to % off, and provisions up 2½ to 10c.

Aggressive selling and a lack of support characterized the wheat market in the final hour of the session. In addition to the bearish effect of the destruction of vessels and of the chances of renewed tension between the United States and Germany, the influence of the breaking of the drought seemed to be gaining in force, as many reports were coming in from all sections of the rain-soaked territory telling of the revival of the crop.

Weather of a kind to retard the movement of the corn crop brought about strength in the corn market. A prospect of smaller receipts made speculative short-sellers unusually inclined to weak end evening up of trades. In the oats trades, bears had an advantage owing to reports that planting was actively going on, especially through Central Illinois. It was said that for oats in ground was in the best condition in years. Provisions rose with hogs. Besides, the shipments of meats this week were liberal as compared with a year ago.

TWO HOUR SESSION ON STOCK EXCHANGE IS BARREN OF INTEREST

Trading Is Lighter and More Narrow Than Usual—Heavy Undertone Is Due to a Combination of Circumstances.

New York, March 25.—Today's two hour session on the stock exchange was barren of interest. Trading was lighter and more narrow than usual and the heavy undertone was due to a combination of circumstances, including further adverse news from abroad and the customary week end settlement of open contracts by the professional element.

Prices were confusing at the outset, but became irregular, later closing with numerous net losses.

There were a few neutralizing features, for instance, General Motors, which made up some of its recent severe decline by an advance of 33 points to 485; Harvester corporation, which rose 4 points and 1 to 3 points advances in Maxwell and Willys-Overland, the fertilizers and American Writing Paper, preferred.

United States Steel and other former leaders were altogether neglected when not under marked restraint. Dealings in steel were expected by half a dozen other issues, some of which often fail of quotation for days at a time.

Total sales of stocks amounted to 215,000 shares.

Week end news dealt generally with general trade conditions, authorizing agreeing as to unprecedented activity in all the larger lines of industry with an increase of merchandise distribution.

Purchases by interior merchants ate in some instances stated to be the largest ever known.

Foreign exchange rates were extremely irregular, francs making a slight recovery from yesterday, while sterling and marks eased, the latter, however, holding above the mid-week's minimum.

OBITUARY.

Martaa Dimmitt, nee Hull, was born near Kinderhook, Pike county, Illinois, January 24, 1834, and departed this life in Concord, Illinois, in the home of her daughter, Rev. Mrs. W. P. Bowman, March, 1916, aged 82 years and two months.

She was the daughter of Thomas and Mary Hull and the seventh of a family of twelve children and the last surviving member.

After attending the district school she was a student in the Griggsville Academy, a Methodist institution, located in Griggsville, Ill., about 1850. While in school there she became acquainted with her future husband J. H. Dimmitt.

Mr. Dimmitt was licensed to preach and appointed junior preacher on the Payson circuit in 1855. Near the close of his first year of ministerial service, they were married, September 23, 1856, and for fifteen years they were in the active service of the Illinois conference.

They retired from the ministry and engaged in farming, living in southwestern Missouri from 1878 until 1888 and located in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, in 1890, where Mr. Dimmitt died in 1893.

To them were born seven children two daughters and five sons, as follows: Rev. Mrs. W. P. Bowman of Concord, Ill.; Rev. Mrs. A. B. Hightshoe of Hedrick, Iowa; C. E. Dimmitt of New York City; Rev. L. F. Dimmitt of Galesburg, Ill.; T. H. Dimmitt of Portland, Oregon; Rev. J. L. Dimmitt and J. H. Dimmitt of Los Angeles, Calif. There survived eighteen grand children and one great grand child.

At one time five of her seven children were actively engaged in the ministry of the church she loved and served so faithfully. She came from Methodist stock. Her father was a local preacher.

When a child eight years of age, she gave her heart to Christ and when thirteen years old she was received as a probationer by Rev. John C. Pinkard at the old Aker's Chapel in the western part of Pike county, five miles north of Hull Station and into full connection the following year by Rev. Michael Shunk.

In the fall of 1900 her youngest child was married and she broke up housekeeping and made her home with her oldest daughter, Rev. Mrs. W. P. Bowman, having lived practically about thirty years in Methodist parsonages. Thus she had great opportunity to know the hardship of the itinerant ministry and acquaint herself with the work and progress of the church.

Never very strong in body, nevertheless, she was a woman of deep convictions, great faith, patience, and devoted to the work of the Master.

To the very last days of her life she was devoted and deeply interested in her large family and rejoiced in their success as ministers and laymen of the church.

She had been in failing health for many years and confined to her bed the last six months. On last Sunday evening she became seriously ill, and the end seemed to be near. But her faith was strong and her hopes bright, for she said to her daughter and husband, "My hope is in God thru Jesus Christ, do not grieve, but rejoice with me."

On Friday morning she became very happy and rejoiced aloud because of the victory God had given her. She asked her loved ones to sing, "Glory to His Name," "At the Cross," "Hallelujah, Thine the Glory," and "Sweeping Thru the Gates." At times her soul was in great ecstasy and she tried to sing but she was too feeble and her voice failed.

The funeral will be held at Griggsville this afternoon at two o'clock in the Methodist Episcopal church and burial will be made in the Bethel cemetery, five miles southeast of Griggsville, beside the body of her husband.

SPRAINS ANKLE IN FALL.

Anderson Banks, while at work hanging paper at one of the tenant houses belonging to A. A. Curry, near Pisgah, Friday, had the misfortune to fall and badly sprain his left ankle. The accident, upon which he was working, broke, causing the accident. Mr. Banks will be laid up for some time.

Miss Ella Delaney of Chicago is visiting her sister, Mrs. Walter Quillian and other friends.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL.

Run-down, Weak and Nervous—Made Strong by Vinol.

For the benefit of Jacksonville school girls who overwork and get into highly nervous, weak and run-down condition, we publish this letter from Dorris Coppler of Fort Worth, Tex.—"I go to high school and take music lessons, and became run-down, weak and very nervous, so I could not do anything. I would shake all over and could have screamed at times, and was really unfit to keep on with my studies. Mother purchased a bottle of Vinol for me and within a week I was better, and in two weeks I had gained five pounds and felt fine."

It is the curative strengthening elements of the true cod liver extract, aided by the blood-making, revitalizing effect of peptonate or iron and beef peptone, contained in Vinol, which made it so successful in building up health and strength and overcoming the nervous condition of Miss Coppler, and we ask every school girl in Jacksonville who is in a like condition to try Vinol, on our guarantee to return their money if it fails to benefit. Lee P. Allcott, Druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.—Adv.

BOOKPLATES.

Forms and Styles In Use and a Label's Place in a Volume.

Bookplates are not of modern invention. Their beginning was in the latter half of the fifteenth century and their accredited first home Germany. But as a bookplate has the same merit in a library that a scavenger has in the grainfield, a polite "hands off" to the too ready and forgetful borrower, the fashion of this mark of ownership has increased, not decreased, until today one finds bookplate collections in multitudes as well as bookplate users.

There are three forms of plate, the engraved plate, the photograph and the line cut plate. The engraved plate has for a long while been as popular as it is beautiful, but recently there seems a shifting in fancy toward the photograph—just why nobody knows. Perhaps it is the lesser cost. For the engraved plate mounts up from $100 to $500, whereas the photograph may be had for $25, and the line cut, if one is clever enough to draw one's own design, costs a mere trifle for a simple design. Once one has one's plate, however, the printings thereon are but a trifle.

There are four distinct styles in plates. The first is the armorial. In this the crest or coat of arms is used and sometimes the owner's name added thereto. The second style is the decorative, in which allegory or pure decoration creates the basis of the idea.

The third is the pictorial plate. This shows the owner's tastes and inclinations. A college boy, for instance, may have a plate which will show a tennis racket, golf sticks, a football. The fourth and last style is seldom seen. Still it exists, so it is worth mentioning. It is classed as portraiture and consists of the book owner's picture or portrait framed in some decorative scheme. And as far as good taste goes it is questionable.

Where to place the bookplate when once it is a possession also tends the soul of many. Common usage and common sense show the best place to be on the inner side of the book's front cover, for a plate pasted between the fly leaves of the book defeated its own purpose. Being well obscured, it is rarely noticed. When a husband and wife combine libraries it is often usual to find the plate of one in the front of the volume and the plate of the other in the back, or one may be added smaller size beneath the other.—New York Sun.

Welding by Cohesion.

If sheets of plate glass be piled up horizontally to a considerable height without the precaution of separating them by sheets of paper the glass in certain places adheres as tightly as if it were cemented, so that it is necessary to remove it bit by bit. This is due solely to cohesion, which is the property of bodies to adhere as soon as their molecules are in contact. It is almost impossible to make surfaces so smooth and to exert pressure so great that the molecules of the two surfaces will actually be in intimate contact, but in certain machines this does occasionally take place with both steel and lead, effecting a sort of welding so perfect that even the microscope cannot detect the place of union.—New York World.

Daytime Aurora.

An aurora seen in the daytime is described by H. B. Collier in the Journal of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada. The writer was at Viking, Alberta, in latitude 53 degrees north, and observed the aurora half an hour before sunset on April 22. Its visibility was due to the fact that a cloud hung above the horizon, serving as a curtain or screen against which the aurora could be seen. The observer states that "numerous bright, hazy, milky streamers, appearing to have their source just below the cloud, darted upward, rising about fifteen degrees."

Prize Story Brilliants.

Gems from a recent short story prize competition: "Oh, if my poor old mother could sit up in her cold, cold grave and see me, how happy she would be!" "Madeline seated herself at twilight on the wisterized piazza." "Ethel decided to prepare something appetizing for her husband's supper." "Adelaide was accustomed to have her fractious horse brought around every morning before breakfast, so that she might take an exhilarating gallop through the Paris bourse."—Bookman.

Needed Inventions.

A rocking chair that will murmur "Step to the right" when you are about to fall over it in the dark. An electric collar button that will automatically light up when it escapes you and disappears under the bed. A latchkey with a magnet attachment that will invariably find the key-hole. A square brimmed straw hat that may blow off, but will not roll away.—Judge.

Should Be Welcome.

"I see you state that a certain citizen was ninety years old today." "Well?" said the editor. "Is that item of any great importance?" "Maybe not. But it is a sort of relief from the casualty news."—Pittsburgh Post.

The Proper Place.

Applicant—I've got a head full of ideas, sir, that would come in handy in the management of your business. Boss—to nearly clerk!—Here, Jack, take this chap down to the unloading department.—Judge.

The battle is weak that is waged with one hand.—Epigrams.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

The second in the series of the historical violin and piano sonata evenings, by Mrs. Day and Mr. Stearns, took place in the college auditorium on Friday evening, March 24. George J. Yeck Celebrates His Sixty-First Birthday.

March 25th has for many years been a red letter anniversary in the home of George J. Yeck, one of the city's first class, upright, industrious citizens. George was the first of eight children and all after him were girls and for a long time all gathered at his home each birthday to help celebrate the event. Then death claimed two of the sisters and five gathered around the brother's bedside. Yesterday one sister, Mrs. Jokisch was sick but the other four, Miss Augusta and Miss Emma Yeck, Mrs. Henry Ellrich and Mrs. Josephine Sidener, came over from Beards-town and the day was most happily spent. It is an event anticipated by Mr. Yeck with pleasure for a long time and yesterday his expectations were fully realized and good cheer prevailed all day. A superb dinner and one especially acceptable to a German appetite was enjoyed and the whole day went by most happily.

Kill Kare Circle Meeting.

Members of the Kill Kare circle met recently at the home of Miss Marian Updegraff. A part of the evening was spent in sewing for the free kindergarten. Then came a short business session, at which an amendment was made to the constitution. During a social hour music was a feature and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Altogether it was an occasion of very great pleasure. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Lila Roberts April 27.

Round Table Gives Tea for Kindergarten.

The tea given Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Cherry in benefit of the free kindergarten by the Domestic Science Round Table, was well patronized and about twelve dollars was realized. A pleasing program was rendered and delightful refreshments served. Particularly attractive were the decorations: Richmond rose in the parlor, jonquils and ferns in the library and music room, the dining room in Ward roses and smilax. Mrs. Ben Lorton, president of the Round Table had in charge the program and Mrs. W. D. Doying was chairman of the refreshment committee.

Miss Geraldine Sieber played "La Biene Amee" as the opening number and Miss Claribel Hopper, director of the kindergarten, was present with a company of her pupils and gave a drill. Mrs. Frank Hargrove played the Valse from Op. 34 of Chopin and Mrs. Wylder, accompanied by Miss Rebecca Schei-el, sang with especial grace and charm a group of songs, depicting the life of the rose. The quartet of songs was by Lehman and included "The Unfolding," "The Summer Storm," "Rose Leaves" and "The Resurrection." Miss Janette Powell gave a reading, "The Madness of Phillip" and Mrs. J. Edgar Martin, with a piano solo, closed the formal program.

Those gentlemen who are promoting that new league consisting of several towns in Iowa and Illinois including Jacksonville had better wake up soon and go to work on some job that will pay them better money than the aforesaid league.

The only trouble is that most of us will spend the money we save on gas and electricity for something else.

Recent events in Jacksonville show that romance is not dead.

The esteemed Associated Press carried a story the other day to the effect that a mewling pet cat aroused the occupants of a burning house at Clarinda, Iowa, and enabled them to escape. It goes to show that it pays to have a cat that mews if you have a cat at all.

In Germany they are protesting against the prevailing style in women's dresses on the ground that it requires too much cloth to make them. If they are making them as short as they are in this country it looks like it would be a saving in cloth over the old styles.

A Centerville, Iowa, man has a little rooster named Clarice. It is alleged that Clarice laid two eggs a day for fourteen days. We should hate to hear Mr. Roosevelt's opinion of the veracity of the hen's owner.

If anybody was making a book now we would bet even money that General Carranza will be running for his life in Mexico inside of three months.

A story was sent out from Springfield anent the Jacksonville rate case and among other things it said that the fare on the street car line here was formerly six cents. That must have been many years ago for so far we haven't found a man old enough to remember when it was in effect.

Life's Harmony was the alluring title of a picture produced at a local theater Saturday. It may be all right in a picture but in real life there are many discords and false notes.

While he is not sure, Mr. Miser has strong suspicions that he was "dry picked" by the utility commission last Thursday.

It might be well while the Texans have the fighting fever to withdraw the regular troops and let Texas go over and settle the Mexican question. It is a safe bet that it would be settled effectively and for all time if they were given full swing.

Indications are that General Funston will be able to employ the Mexican roads, perhaps tomorrow, in supplying his far-stretching lines, thus relieving an increasingly serious problem.

Reassuring official reports from many parts of Mexico continued to reach the state department today. Among these were telegrams from Nogales and Pedrag Nogras, reporting continued quiet. The settlement of the railroad strike was reported from Eagle Pass. Other developments of the day included authoritative denials of the reported raid on Gibson's ranch and the killing of three Americans, General Obregon's repudiation of the report that Luis Herrera and his men had revolted, already denied from every official source and Secretary Lansing's assurances to Mr. Arredondo that ammunition shipments to loyal Carranza troops would not be delayed.

MISS FLORENCE WARD WILL BE A POLICEWOMAN

Commission is to be Issued Monday—Special Attention to Speeders and Humane Law Violators.

The matter of humanity, automobile speeding and various matters have been considered by a number of citizens and so far definite action has not been taken but after a conference with Mayor Rodgers and Commissioner Martin. Complaints have been made of inhumanity to horses and other animals, of reckless automobile speeding and various other matters and the city police force is limited the idea of appointing Miss Ward seemed worth while.

SAVE THE TREES IS NOW THE SLOGAN

The Work and Expense Will Devolve on Property Owners.

Commissioner Cox says he can not possibly spare a man to work at wrapping the trees along streets to keep down pestiferous bugs and it will devolve on adjacent property owners to do this. The park commission had had two excellent men doing this work and if a sufficient number of people in a given locality join in the work the cost per tree will be but a few cents and the park commission will attend to the work. It must be understood that if a sufficient number in a given locality unite in the enterprise and in that case it will cost not more than ten or fifteen cents a tree or even possibly less. The park board will share bare cost and cheerfully attend to the work and as the assistant state entomologist says it is very important if our noble elms are to be saved it would seem as if every owner of property shaded by these fine trees would be willing to be at a small expense to save them. Any one desiring to investigate the matter can communicate with S. W. Nichols.

CHORUS CHOIR IN REHEARSAL FOR CENTENARY REVIVAL

Director Moon Finds Fine Spirit and Music Will Be a Great Feature of Evangelistic Services.

The second rehearsal of the chorus which will sing during the revival services that are to begin at Centenary church Sunday was held last night. There was a fine attendance of singers present and again the spirit and enthusiasm ran strong. The practice was for only one hour, but the full sixty minutes were given to practicing the splendid gospel songs which will be sung during the meetings.

Mr. Moon the director of the chorus said: "I certainly appreciate the fine spirit of those who compose the Chorus; it gives promise of great results." Mr. and Mrs. Moon have won a place in the high regard of those who have met them and who have practiced under their direction. Here are some comments from those who sing:

"We are coming regularly, it is worth while."

Mr. Moon exceeded what we thought possible for the first evening's work."

"He is very accurate in his work and stresses really important points."

"There is promise of a great chorus. We like both Mr. and Mrs. Moon very much personally."

The practice last night was splendid and it is doubtful if as satisfactory results have ever been obtained in any chorus in any church of the city in so short a time.

A stage has been extended over the pulpit, greatly increasing the capacity for the chorus and it is in the planning to soon have one hundred singers in the chorus.

The services for Sunday promise to be especially helpful. The pastor, the Rev. G. W. Flagg has been making special preparations for these services. At the service Sunday morning Mr. Moon will sing as a solo, "The Ninety and Nine" by Campion. The chorus will sing as special numbers at the services, "The House That Stood the Storm" and "Onward to Victory." Everyone will be given a cordial welcome to all services during the meeting and are hereby invited to be present as often as it may be found possible.

LARGE CROWD HEARS FIGHT RETURNS.

That there is lots of the primitive still in the average man was shown by the interest displayed in the returns of the Willard Moran fight. The men fought ten rounds in New York Saturday evening. Before 8 o'clock the crowd began to gather in front of the Journal office and by the time the first round was received about 8:57 o'clock there were several hundred people present. The crowd spread out over the tracks of the Jacksonville Railway company and was so large that the returns were read from the front door of the office. The Associated Press gave excellent service throughout the entire ten rounds and at no time was the report more than fifteen seconds behind the actual hostilities in the ring at Madison Square Garden.

THE "OLD SONGS"

NOT OVERLOOKED
To feel again in full measure the delights of the old songs and learn the pleasures of the new ones each season it is but necessary to attend the performance of the Al G. Field Greater Minstrels, who are coming to the Grand Thursday, March 29.

In this, the Al G. Field Greater Minstrels are keeping up minstrel tradition. The folk songs of America—the songs of the home—were introduced and popularized by minstrels, and their very language is in the dialect of the minstrel stage. Most of them were written by Stephen Collins Foster—"Old Black Joe," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Old Folks at Home," "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground," "Hard Times," etc.

His official biographer says, "The negro dialect was used in the songs because of the vogue of negro minstrels among the people, from the '40's on."

Side by side with the new ones, one or more are always heard in the "first part" of the Al G. Field Minstrel program, which is making song history today just as the leading minstrel organizations of America always have.
